

Take control of your working hours

Did you know that:

- average weekly working hours remain above 50 for most categories of teacher?
- there are statutory limits to how many hours head teachers can direct you to work?

For more information,
go to www.teachers.org.uk/workload

If NUT members in your school are being directed to work too many hours, get together to discuss an approach to your head teacher.

Contact your division/association secretary for help and support, or to tell them of your success.
